SPC PRODUCT LINES

An Overview of Johnson's SPC Rigid Core Luxury Vinyl Flooring

Many customers are interested in the hype of worry-free flooring that SPC offers, but what exactly is SPC? SPC flooring stands for Stone Plastic Composite (or Solid Polymer Core), and they are engineered luxury vinyl planks manufactured to resemble natural wood but at a lower price point and less maintenance than hardwood floors. At Johnson Hardwood, our SPC floors are made with the following innovative technologies:

1. Protective wear layer for increased impact and wear resistance
2. Registered embossing (EIR) for a hyper-realistic wood texture
3. Unique printed design for real-looking wood details
4. WaterShield SPC Rigid Core for 100% waterproofing and increased durability
5. Underlayment for shock absorption and sound proofing
6. No glue, easy click installation
7. Phthalate, formaldehyde, and harmful chemical-free certifications

GREEN STORY

Perfect Duet...

A seamless transition of flooring throughout the entire house.

Ever fall in love with hardwood flooring and wish that you could install it throughout the entire house? Now, you have the potential to install similar colored and styled flooring without worrying about common “splash zone” sections like the kitchen, laundry room, and bathroom. Johnson Hardwood’s Public House Series features highly rated engineered hardwood colors - several of them from the winner of “Surfaces Best of 2015 Style & Design” Alehouse Series. The Public House Series has all the beauty of real hardwood with all the benefits of SPC flooring. Innovative technology such as a thick 30-mil wear layer, our Watershield SPC Rigid Core Hybrid, and registered embossing (EIR), ensures durable, waterproof, and realistic low pattern-repeat flooring. These beautiful worry-free floors will match the bustle and joy of any lifestyle.
